

BACKCOUNTRY SURVIVAL

The following kit list is by no means exhaustive but certain items must be taken. Failing to bring the essential items may lead to an uncomfortable experience and reduced learning. If you are not in a position to obtain any of these items, please contact us and we will advise or issue from our store.

When packing please remember to pack for the number of days your course is and that you will be carrying your kit. Bringing clothes to change into before heading home would be advised.

Equipment	Remarks
Base Layer	The layer you will wear next to your skin, should ideally be made from soft fibres that will trap warm air close to the skin. Avoid Cotton. Wool is best.
Mid Layer	This should be warm and comfortable.
Fleece
Outer Layer	This should be a tough garment which is waterproof and windproof such as Gore-Tex or hard wearing cotton.
Trousers	Light quick drying cotton trousers are best. Ideally waterproof. Avoid jeans.
Footwear	Sturdy giving ankle support with a good grip.
Socks	Warm woollen socks are the best option
Hat	Warm woollen hat is best
Gloves
Rucksack	30-60 litre
Sleeping bag	Ideally 3 season
Bivi Bag	Goretex (not Orange Survival Bag) – Please see photo below showing the correct type of Bivi Bag

ADDITIONAL

Throughout the course instructors will be referencing items that we have/use in our Survival tins. The production of a Survival Tin is optional. Here is a list of items that should be considered when making up a survival tin. The contents must be tailored to suit the environment and most items should have more than one use; however the tin should ideally be of tobacco tin size and full. Certain items can wrap around the outside of the tin for security and extra capacity.
